Ian Allison – Headteacher

22nd January 2010

SCHOOL NEWS

We send our condolences to Hollie-Sinden David in Elm class and her family on the death of her father. The family advise that Christopher Sinden's funeral will be on Wednesday 27th January at 2pm at Holy Trinity Church, and that anyone who would like to attend is welcome. Flowers are welcome, or donations to St. Catherine's Hospice via Medhurst funeral director, Hartfield.

Hats for Haiti – Monday 25th January – children are invited to wear a hat to school and make a donation (suggested £2) to the Haiti earthquake appeal. Donations will be collected at the gate.

There have been several complaints from parents this week about dog mess in School Lane. May we remind you that dogs should not be brought beyond the school gate.

CLUBS

If your child has not yet returned their reply slip for clubs, it is not too late to do so. Please note that the Internet café on Mondays is not a teacher led club on internet safety, but a drop in for children when accompanied by a parent, primarily for those children who cannot use the internet at home.

Creature Comforts Art workshops will be held on Wednesdays by ilka Leukefeld, with apologies for the cancellation due to snow last week. Cost is £6 per session or £20 for four. Book at the Office.

KITCHEN NEWS

More and more children are coming to school wanting a lunch, but without the money to pay for it. Chasing up missing monies is very time consuming so please ensure that you send dinner money with your child each day. Thank you.

PTA NEWS

It's panto time again – oh yes it is! £1 from every ticket sold goes straight to the PTA with a bonus if we sell all the tickets we have been given. Tickets are for Wednesday 27th January, and cost £7 for adults, £6 concessions and £5 for under 16s. Support your local pantomime – tickets on sale in the playground Monday and Tuesday.

MUSIC NEWS

There are a few places available for Thursday's guitar group. If you are interested please contact Claudia Racher on 01342 822103.

COMMUNITY NEWS

The RNLI are holding a fund raising Fashion Show on Mon 8th February in the school hall – all are welcome. Please phone Thelma Manning on 01342 327587 or speak to Alison in the school kitchen for tickets.
